Parenting with Kids in Mind

A presentation by

Landolt Elem Counselor, Ms. Meade and Greene Elem Counselor, Ms. Bain.

Come to one or come to all; the classes are FREE and full of helpful parenting information to make home and school more manageable.

Building School Relations: This session will focus on surviving homework hassles, navigating through parent-teacher conferences, and the importance of parental involvement at school. (Oct 14th 6:30-7:30 Landolt Library)

What about these Bullies?! Here we will discuss identifying and defining bullying, when and how to intervene if your child(ren) are being bullied, and assertiveness skills to teach your kids. (Nov 18th 6:30-7:30 Greene Library)

Love & Logic: Allowing Kids to Make Mistakes We will learn how to turn negative "mess-ups" into positive learning experiences. You will be provided with practice scenarios and specific tools to use for these often difficult situations. (Feb 17th 6:30-7:30 Landolt Library)

Love & Logic: Making Kids Think When it comes to discipline and punishments, your child should be thinking and working harder than you. This class will give you specific techniques to use during those "trying" moments. (April 14th 6:30-7:30 Greene Library)

Transition to Intermediate School: This meeting will be for parents of 5th grade students going into 6th grade. We will provide information on surviving the emotional transition, as well as the fundamentals of Intermediate School. (May 12th Location TBD)
